

ASCLS is excited to introduce the ASCLS Voices Under 40, a monthly recognition of one of our many talented and committed young professionals under 40 years old. The ASCLS Voices Spotlight has been developed to honor ASCLS members who have shown exceptional commitment to ASCLS, the laboratory profession, and their community at large at a younger age in their professional career. Each month we spotlight one of the shining voices who were selected from many nominations across the country.

Please meet Sarah Steinberg, MS, MLS(ASCP).

Sarah is the clinical coordinator for the Casper College MLT program. In addition to setting up clinical rotations for her students, she teaches classes for the MLT and the University of Wyoming MLS programs and serves as student advisor. She has also volunteered as chair and/or vice chair for the College Faculty Senate, Multicultural Film Festival, and Clinical Coordinator Working Group. In addition to her college duties, she works part time for Summit Medical Center and served as Health Fair volunteer chair.

Sarah has served as ASCLS-WY ascending professional (AP) representative for two years and is currently AP representative for Region 8. She served on the Leadership Development Council for two years and served on the Clinical Laboratory Collaborative Conference (CLCC), a joint spring meeting with ASCLS-Colorado, Planning Committee. She has served as ASCLS-WY government affairs chair and webmaster for two years. Most recently she was elected secretary for the ASCLS Ascending Professionals Forum.

Sarah shares her voice by participating in the Laboratory Legislative Symposium and contributing an article in ASCLS Today. She presented BOC Success Strategies at the 2023 CLCC and was a member of a career panel at that same conference. She promotes the profession regularly in her classes and at the annual Casper College Health Science Fair.

Sarah feels her proudest achievement in ASCLS, besides receiving Omicron Sigma and ASCLS-WY Member of the Year Award, is being able to bring more awareness to our profession and organization. Being AP representative has allowed her to advocate to her students about the importance of being involved with a professional organization. Outside of ASCLS, she feels her proudest accomplishment is being a first-generation college student, earning her master's degree, and being accepted into a doctorate program.

Sarah's motivation for being actively involved in ASCLS is being given the opportunity to advocate and be a voice for the profession. This has always been a passion of hers, and ASCLS allows her voice to carry beyond her classroom.

Sarah's nominator says Sarah's positivity and leadership abilities are exactly what our newly revitalized state of Wyoming will need to sustain it into the future. Her drive and determination will enable her to accomplish whatever goals she sets for herself, and her positive energy is inspiring. This lady has a bright future, and we can't be prouder to have her represent Wyoming.

Congratulations Sarah on this well-deserved award.
