

Guide to Bellevue & Seattle

The Bellevue area is often referred to as "the East Side" with Seattle just west across Lake Washington. Public transit is straightforward and relatively fast across the water or from Bellevue to other nearby areas, like Redmond.

Seattle Activities

SEATTLE CENTER

305 Harrison St, 98109

www.seattlecenter.com

The classic adventure for visitors, the Space Needle gives you fantastic views of Seattle. In my opinion, the most fun parts of Seattle Center, though, are the museums. MOPOP, the Museum of Pop Culture, has constantly rotating exhibits alongside longstanding ones featuring artifacts from film and music history (for example, a Dalek from Doctor Who and some of Jimi Hendrix's guitars). The building itself is a bizarre work of art too. The Chihuly Gardens and Glass is another artistic marvel, displaying work on a grand scale by local glass artist Dale Chihuly.

Pike Place Market

PIKE PLACE MARKET

85 Pike St, 98101

www.pikeplacemarket.org

A labyrinth of fun and unusual shops and restaurants that winds its way down to the waterfront. Famous in part for fishmongers, who will literally throw fish to customers, and the Gum Wall. Don't miss The Crumpet Shop for a cozy treat or stroll along the waterfront after you've finished exploring.

SMITH TOWER OBSERVATORY

506 2nd Ave, 98104

www.smithtower.com

See all of Seattle laid out before you from what was once the tallest building in the city. Grab a drink at the observatory bar and enjoy the view.

CAPITOL HILL NEIGHBORHOOD

An excellent spot to eat, drink coffee, and bar hop. Here you'll find every type of food and drink under the sun, plus a lot of great nightlife spots and colorful locals. You might bump into me sipping tea and perusing books at the Elliott Bay Book Company.

FREMONT NEIGHBORHOOD

Another unique and delightful neighborhood to explore. Full of great food, shops, bars, and coffee, as well as the famous Fremont Troll under the bridge.
